

ABSTRACT

Novel proteins, novel genes encoding the same, plasmids respectively comprising these genes, transformants respectively comprising these plasmids, antibodies or fragments thereof against the above novel proteins, methods of detecting a bacterial infection, and novel polynucleotides are disclosed. The novel proteins are activated human macrophage-specific proteins.